

Children of the future

Is a wonderful album, created and produced by wildlife photographer Sabina van Stralen. This special edition on children from the city ghetto's and poor villages in South Africa includes stories from these children themselves.

This book focus on how much happiness, pride and trust these children do have in their future simply because of the interference of charities like 'SCORE' that dedicate their attention to these children. You will find more information on SCORE at: www.score.org.za

This book contains about 160 A4 pages and has a wonderful thick cover. The high quality makes it a collector's item and thus an excellent business present.

Large part of the sales revenues will be forwarded directly to 'SCORE' in order to directly support its goals as well as to get a future reflected into these children's eyes.

As a special thank you for supporting us we are prepared (obviously upon your specific request only) to place your company logo inside the cover on the back.

Price per book is €39,99. We are prepared to provide discount for large orders.

You now have the unique chance to place a pre-order so that you are assured of sufficient quantities.

For information and orders you can contact Sabina van Stralen.
